

Know All About FSSAI Registration?

FSSAI Online Registration:

The full form of FSSAI is the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India. FSSAI Online Registration is mandatory compliance for all types of food business operators in India. It is compulsory to obtain an FSSAI online registration before commencing any food business in the country.

The government has taken this step to ensure that food products undergo certain quality checks. And, thereby reducing the instances of adulteration, substandard products and improve accountability of manufacturers.

The FSSAI provides a 14 digit registration or license number to the food business operators to create accountability for quality standards of food products. It is mandatory for all the manufacturers and traders involved in the food business. And, FSSAI food license number must also be printed on food packages.

Steps for FSSAI Online Registration:

Step 1: You can take help of FSSAI license consultants to fill the FSSAI registration Form. You need to file FSSAI registration Form an on FSSAI website and make the payment for FSSAI registration form at the FBO nearby your locality.

Step 2: After the payment confirmation is reflected in your FSSAI account, you need to file FSSAI registration Form B with the government. There are multiple declarations and resolutions that need to be filed with your FSSAI registration Form E.g., board resolution, owner self-declaration. These declarations should ideally be prepared by an FSSAI license consultant i.e. company secretary.

Step 3: You will then need to follow-up with the government department for an FSSAI license status update on your FSSAI product approval application. The government may also send back your application for edits and if you fail to respond within 15 days, then your application will be rejected.

Step 4: The government will take 45-60 working days to completely review your FSSAI product approval application and approve the same.
